Supervising in Challenging Situations
This training will focus on participants examining their supervision styles. Participants will review challenging supervisor situations; the importance of maintaining healthy boundaries will be stressed. The training includes information sharing, reflective exercises, and interactive activities to help participants become more informed in effective supervisory practices.

Speaker
Jorie Schwartz LISW-S, has been a social worker in Columbus for nearly 18 years. She is a graduate from the MSW program at The Ohio State University and has worked primarily in the areas of community mental health, school-based and after school prevention, and early childhood development. She has supervised staff as a program coordinator at Concord Counseling and as a program manager at Directions for Youth and Families. For most of her career she has also been a field instructor for student interns. She was a field coordinator at The OSU College of Social Worker and is currently a liaison and faculty member at Columbus State Community College in the Mental Health/Addiction Studies/Developmental Disabilities Program. She has facilitated trainings for social workers on the subject of supervision and other topics for the past five years.
